JetBlue Announces CEO Succession

JetBlue Airways announced that Joanna Geraghty, currently the company's president and chief operating officer, will succeed Robin Hayes as chief executive officer, effective February 12, 2024. Hayes will continue to serve on the company's Board of Directors until that time, at which point Geraghty will join the Board. Hayes will serve as a strategic advisor to the company over the coming months.

Geraghty said, "I am honored and excited to serve as the next CEO of JetBlue. With a beloved brand, an industry-leading customer experience, a unique culture, and the industry's best crewmembers, JetBlue has long been a disruptor. I'm excited to continue working with JetBlue's 25,000 crewmembers who are as energized as I am about challenging the status quo and bringing humanity to an industry long dominated by the legacy carriers. I'm so proud of what we've accomplished over the last 20-plus years, and I am looking forward to building on this momentum as we execute on our strategic initiatives, return to profitable growth, and generate sustainable value for our shareholders and all our stakeholders."

JetBlue Announces Fourth Quarter 2023 Results

JetBlue Airways Corporation reported its financial results for the fourth quarter of 2023.

"We closed the year on a strong note thanks to the hard work and continued execution of our team as fourth quarter revenue and costs beat our expectations," said Robin Hayes, JetBlue's chief executive officer. "Looking ahead, I am confident that the next chapter of JetBlue, under Joanna's leadership, will deliver a refreshed focus on our core customer, expanded opportunities for our crewmembers, and a return to JetBlue's historical earnings power for our shareholders."

"2024 is an important year of change for JetBlue and we are taking aggressive action, including launching $300 million of revenue initiatives, to return to profitability and deliver value for our shareholders. We are moving with renewed rigor and discipline as we refocus our energy and play to our strengths, further deepening our unique competitive positioning," said Joanna Geraghty, JetBlue's president and chief operating officer.
